THANK YOU! 2020 Year-End Giving Campaign

Your support at the end of 2020 has been astounding and incredibly morale-boosting. The past ten months have been no cakewalk, but our talented team has managed to cook up some unexpected miracles with what is here. You've heard it before: comfort food, parking lot performances, virtual cinema, solar panels, gallery redo, stuff store, used books, the archives, maintenance and repair shop – benches and lamps, and all kinds of creative thinking for these challenging pandemic days. Don't worry. We are still imagining and planning.

In addition to the actual dollars, your letters and notes are a treasure trove of uplift and inspiration. Every single word has cheered us and the daily mail has become a morning high point.

Again – thank you for your belief in TSL.

Time to Talk: Woolf's Words, Then and Now

Virtual Book Event: Saturday, January 23 at 1:00pm

Join Linda, Claudia, and the TSL staff for a virtual discussion of one of Virginia Woolf's best known novels, Mrs. Dalloway, published in 1925 (96 years ago). Celebrate the new year and the entry into the public domain of Mrs. Dalloway – January 1, 2020, 70 years after Woolf's death.

In the novel, all of the action, aside from the flashbacks, takes place on a day in the middle of June of 1923 as Clarissa Dalloway, the book's protagonist, reflects on the past, present, and future. Woolf's stream of consciousness writing style provides a timeless framework for self-exploration even now, almost 100 years later, as the global community is immersed in a cauldron of uncertainty and change.

TSL co-director Linda Mussmann first read Virginia Woolf fifty-plus years ago. Woolf's words and style influenced Linda's life as an artist and have been the inspiration for many of TSL's theater productions. From the novel: She had the perpetual sense, as she watched the taxi cabs, of being out, out, far out to sea and alone; she always had the feeling that it was very, very, dangerous to live even one day.

Let's revisit Clarissa and Septimus in our own time and space. Register by e-mail at jeff@timeandspace.org or online at www.timeandspace.org/dalloway

Time to Talk Recap: Two Square Miles, Fifteen Years Later

In December 2020, TSL hosted a virtual discussion of Two Square Miles, Barbara Ettinger's 2006 documentary on Hudson and its residents during a momentous period in the city's history. Panelists Quintin Cross, Sam J. Miller, Jacob Walthour, and Linda Mussmann discussed what has changed in Hudson since then.

This was not a nostalgic conversation, but rather a rigorous exchange among the four participants about the challenges that lie ahead, including those of class, race, and wealth disparity; the landing of the gentry and its impact on Hudson's community.

Did you miss the conversation? You can view a full recording at www.timeandspace.org/time-to-talk.

Stuff Store: Books by the Thousands . . . Dig in!

We've struck it rich! Palladium (look it up!) deposits beneath the TSL parking lot? Not quite, but just as precious. Used books! All types. All genres. In the month of December alone, TSL has taken in over three thousand books, and that's just the beginning. In the months ahead, the Stuff Store is due to receive thousands more, with hundreds of new arrivals every week.

(Thanks, John Reed, for unloading and stacking!) This, in addition to our offerings of antiques, records, CDs, DVDs, Blu-rays, knick-knacks and . . . more stuff!

Updated hours! The Stuff Store is open for perusal every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday from noon to 5:00pm, or during the week by request. If you can, give us a heads up – or roll the dice.

Special note: To protect yourselves and our staff, we ask that you sanitize your hands as you enter the stuff store. We will also be keeping a eye on the number of people browsing with the goal of allowing no more than ten people among the stuff at any given time. We're in this together. Let's make it through together.

Gallery: THREE PLUS ONE: Kim Bach, Tyler Robins, Michael Sheedy + Earl Swanigan

If you haven't seen the east side gallery space, come over and check it out. Once the cafe, it is now filled, from top to bottom, with inventive work by talented artists.

On display now through January 31 are works by Hudson-based artists Kim Bach and Tyler Robins and Long Island-based outsider artist Michael Sheedy. Additional paintings by Hudson-based outsider artist Earl Swanigan (recently featured in TSL's The Earl Show retrospective in September 2020).

Tours ever Friday, Saturday, and Sunday from noon to 5:00pm. Masks required. Register online and for more information at www.timeandspace.org/three-plus-one. Free admission. Works for sale.

Maintenance & Repair: Founders' Cave in Action

In 1976 when Linda and Claudia began working together and, over the years maintaining a theater company, they became adept at making their own equipment. Linda, of course, brought a plethora of hands-on experience from years growing up on her family's farm. Claudia learned a trick or two during her years working with a do-it-yourself regional theater company.

If you look around the interior and exterior of TSL, you will see their handiwork everywhere – even though some of their essential fixes are out of sight. Don't ask.

So now they have let the cat out of the bag and everyone knows that their talents extend not only to the cerebral side of TSL but also to the maintenance and repair side.

Lights are off but everybody's home? Your favorite lighting fixture might have a bad plug or faulty wiring. Outside with no place to sit and contemplate? You might need a bench for your garden, entryway, or porch.

TSL's founders are here to help you out. For a limited time only – depending on the duration of the covid crisis – Linda and Claudia are offering their services to TSL members. It is benches and lamps for now, but who knows what the future may bring.

More info, visit www.timeandspace.org/maintenance for a series of fun, behind-the-scenes videos featuring the bosses in their workshop. And more videos on the way!

Save Our Stages Act: Stimulus Relief for TSL

In December, Congress approved an additional $900 billion in COVID-19 relief. Included in the bill is the Save our Stages Act, which allocates $15 billion to support independent arts and entertainment venues whose business has suffered as a result of the pandemic. Applicants to the program can seek up to 45% of their 2019 revenue in grant money, which can then be directed toward payroll and operating costs.

Last April, 2020, TSL applied for and was awarded a loan from the Small Business Administration's Payroll Protection Program. We're gearing up for another round of applications as soon as the window for the Save Our Stages program opens. TSL will use these emergency funds to continue our mission of providing creative programming to our community.

Virtual Cinema: Film Club Fun

On January 2, 2021, TSL celebrated the new year with a virtual discussion of Wong Kar Wai's celebrated masterpiece In the Mood for Love, now playing on our Virtual Cinema as part of the World of Wong Kar Wai retrospective.

"I loved the discussion, and watched the movie again last night," wrote one of our members who attended the talk. "The struggle between feelings and social norms. The choice to NOT follow the passions. And the honoring of life regret. So rich a movie. And the photography (and music) so magnificent! A real treat."

We were pleased not only to see some familiar faces, but also to share the screen with new friends from around the world – as far as London and Brazil! Here's to the power of the Internet, and the potential of TSL, to bring people together.

Stay tuned for the next installment of our film club, or reach out to start a conversation of your own! To access our growing selection of independent films and documentaries available to stream from home, go to www.timeandspace.org/virtual-cinema. Our library is updated on a continual basis.

The Virtue of Virtual Cinema:

If TSL were open, you would have had the opportunity to view many of the movies that we now, due to COVID, feature virtually. The depth, richness, and diversity of these films reinforces our determination to "begin again," as Gertrude Stein would say, when the pandemic loosens its grip. We look forward to that time when we can be together in person for ad hoc discussions about movies, art, and life – our favorite topics. So, from TSL to YOU:

Hang in.

The finish line is in sight.

There's light at the end of the tunnel.

The clouds will lift.

Keep on the sunny side.

Help is on the way.

Look for the silver lining.

The best is yet to come.

It's not over 'til it's over!

"Beauty, the world seemed to say. And as if to prove it (scientifically) wherever he looked at the houses, at the railings, at the antelopes stretching over the palings, beauty sprang instantly. To watch a leaf quivering in the rush of air was an exquisite joy. Up in the sky swallows swooping, swerving, flinging themselves in and out, round and round, yet always with perfect control as if elastics held them; and the flies rising and falling; and the sun spotting now this leaf, now that, in mockery, dazzling it with soft gold in pure good temper; and now again some chime (it might be a motor horn) tinkling divinely on the grass stalks - all of this, calm and reasonable as it was, made out of ordinary things as it was, was the truth now; beauty, that was the truth now. Beauty was everywhere."

– Virginia Woolf, Mrs. Dalloway
